

After Effects

Make sure there are no spaces before or after when entering your license!

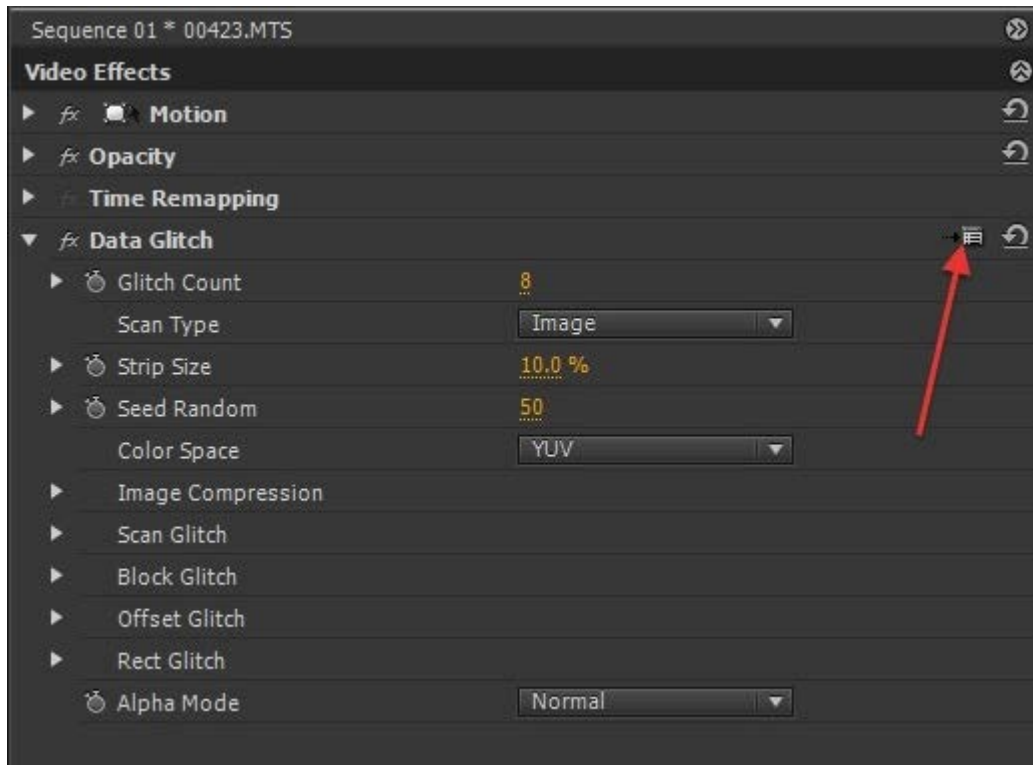

To enter your license and register Rowbyte plugins in After Effects click on the 'Register' link in the Effects panel once you've applied the effect to a layer. This will remove the red X trial watermark. If you are still seeing the watermark after entering the license, please clear any disk cache since After Effects aggressively caches rendered frames and the watermark might have been cached.

Premiere Pro

Make sure there are no spaces before or after when entering your license!

To register plugins in Premiere Pro press the Options button (see below) and then enter the license code. After entering the code, restart Premiere to remove the watermark. If you are still seeing the watermark, please clear any disk cache since PPro aggressively caches rendered frames and the watermark might have been cached.

You can find your license code in the 'My Downloads & Licenses' section of your user account.
